Notes:

- As an experience business and finance professional, having worked on different forums, leading various committees in the workplace and dealing with leadership engagement and challenges, I can talk to a variety of topics in this regard.
- Outside of the workplace, I have been involved in leading a board of a social enterprise, I'm a trustee of another and am part of a local alumni committee of an international business school.
- I'm an advocate for positive masculinity, mental health conversations and believe in brining one's 'full self' into any space.
- My philosophies:
  - To those we are different to: Let's see the humanity in each other and strive to build bridges of understanding, and not barriers of misunderstanding
  - To ourselves and those like us: Let us learn to love ourselves first, and use that love to growth others to being the best versions of themselves

I am a storyteller, and love to use local narratives and examples to explain basic and complex concepts.
